SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The Twenty-Fourth Annual Exhibition was held on the grounds of the Society, on Tuesday, September 26th.

As usual, the exercises opened with a drizzling rain, which prevented a large attendance and reduced the receipts considerably.

The Ploughing Match took place at 9 o'clock, and was confined to a single competitor. Last year this part of the programme was revived, after several years neglect, and from the successful result which attended it last season, it was expected that this year would see it restored to its desired prominence, but ploughing among the farmers of Worcester North, apparently, is one of the lost arts. The only person who gave any signs of a knowledge of it, being Mr. N. B. Reed of Princeton, who was the only one to enter. The trials of Working Steers and Oxen followed, and was fully up to the standard.

The exhibitions of Gentlemen's Driving Horses, Family Horses and Matched Driving Horses were excellent, as they always are at the fairs of this Society, and the show of Town Teams, though confined to the single entry of the team of the Town of Leominster was much superior in number to that of some years before, but still far below what it ought to be. Fitchburg failed to present anything which, to speak mildly, is far from creditable. The special premium for Six-Horse Teams brought out some excellently equipped and elegant turnouts.

The exhibition of neat stock was large and superior as usual. Among the noticeable entries of Thoroughbreds, were the Ayrshires, belonging to the estate of the late Hon. E. T. Miles; the Jerseys of John F. Brown of Lunenburg, Alden Derby of Leominster and G. P. Hawkins of Lunenburg; and the Devons of N. B. Reed of Princeton. The entries of Milch Kine were equally noteworthy, and among numerous others of high merit, were the stock of Stillman Stone, estate of E. T. Miles, Franklin Nourse, and N. B. Reed.

The display of Fat Cattle was better than last year's, and that of Working Oxen and Steers was good. The show of Poultry was excellent in quality, and the entries of Swine showed a great improvement over the last two years. The Horses were numerous and satisfactory.

In the Hall the entries were about the same in number and variety as last year. The department of Fine Arts was specially well filled and many specimens presented work of superior quality.

The out-door exercises in the afternoon were greatly interferred with by rain. The Trotting for premiums offered by the Society, was a fair exhibition, but the Game of Base Ball between the Lowells and Rollstone Nine, which promised to be one the most attractive features of the fair, was brought to an untimely end by the weather.

His Excellency, Governor Rice, together with his Staff and other invited guests, arrived in the city at nine o'clock, and were met at the depot by His Honor, Mayor Blood and members of the city government. A procession was formed under the direction of Capt. E. T. Hayward, Chief Marshal. The Fitchburg Fusiliers, Capt. H. G. Greene, and the Washington Guards, Lieut. M. Donlan, did escort duty, parading as a battalion under command of Lieut.-Col. Geo. E. Goodrich, preceded by a detachment of police under command of Capt. Wheeler. After passing through Prichard and Main streets, the party proceeded to the Fair Grounds, where they were received by the officers of the Society.

At 12:30 the annual dinner was served in the Upper Hall, under the direction of caterer D. L. Fuller. The Fitchburg Cornet Band and a Quartette composed of Messrs. W. W. Clark, John Mather, E. H. Bailey and S. A. Wheeler, Jr., were in attendance and furnished most enjoyable instrumental and vocal music while the company were discoursing the Bill of Fare. After dinner, President Proctor called the company to order and introduced His Honor, Mayor Blood, who spoke impressively of the importance of the agricultural interests. Interesting addresses were also made by His Excellency, the Governor, ex-Mayor Norcross and by Messrs. Wood of Lunenburg, Howe of Bolton, Whitney of Ashburnham, and Edgerly of Fitchburg.

The thanks of the Society are due to Capt. E. T. Hayward and his official aids for their services in preserving order and punctually carrying out the programme. Also to Miss Hattie E. Miles and assistants for clerical services and labor in the arrangement of articles at the hall, this year, as for many years past, gratuitously rendered. Also to Mr. James Phillips, Jr., for important contributions of time and money. To Chief of Police Whitney and members of the police force for valuable assistance. In fact, all worked for a completely successful exhibition, which would have been attained, but for the remarkably bad weather.

Respectfully submitted.

EDWARD B. SAWTELL, Secretary.

Statement of Franklin Nourse.

This box of butter, which is entered for premium, was made from a herd of ten cows, (composed of Jerseys, Ayrshires and high grades,) by a woman of long experience.

PROCESS OF MANUFACTURE.

The milk, while warm from the cows, is strained into common tin pans and set into a clean, cool and well ventilated milk-room, upon slats instead of board shelves, there to remain from thirty to thirty-six hours, according to weather. The cream is then taken off, put in stone jars, remembering to stir each time new cream is added. Churn twice a week in a Rotary churn. After the butter has come, it is taken from the churn, partially worked and salted, one ounce to the pound, and after a suitable time it is again thoroughly worked, weighed and lumped. I salt my cows twice a week invariably, during the summer season.

Statement of Theodore S. Wood.

The butter was made from a dairy of fourteen cows, one-third of which are Jerseys, the rest, grade Durham. The milk was set on racks in pans about three inches deep, standing about thirty-six hours before skimming; churn three times per week at a temperature of 54 to 56 in warm weather and 60 to 62 in cool weather. Salt, about one ounce to the pound.

Statement of Mrs. Stillman Stone.

This butter was made from the milk of seven Jamestown cows; set from thirty-six to forty-eight hours; cream stirred daily and a little salt added. Churned in Fyler's patent churn, and moulded by hand into half pound lumps.

FINE ARTS.

BEST COLLECTIONS BY A PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST.

The exhibition in this department by Mr. J. C. Moulton, was quite extensive, and the only one. The photographs of Nathaniel Wood, Esq., Dr. Alfred Hitchcock, Rev. Geo. Trask, Mr. Rodney Wallace and others, of life size, attracted much attention. That of Mr. Wood, for lifelike expression and beauty of finish, could hardly be excelled. The array of "little people" was perfectly charming. We were unable to say which were best, all were so good. No one could see "little Sophie's" baby face or Wille Eddie's sweet boyish countenance, but to admire them.

OIL PAINTINGS.

The exhibit of oil paintings was very slight. The beautiful view of "Whalom" sketched from nature by Miss Addie Sawyer, a noted artist, elicited many pleasing comments and was a charming picture. "Mount King" showed skill in the arrangement of colors as well as in the use of the pencil.

CRAYON DRAWINGS.

The crayon head of a little boy with hat resting jauntily upon it, was also by Miss Sawyer, and was a beautiful picture. The expression was so full of life and intelligence we could scarcely refrain from speaking to the little fellow.

The portrait of Hon. Ohio Whitney of Ashburnham, by Mrs. Geo. L. Dix, was a success. The "Beauty of '76," was indeed a beauty and seemed beyond criticism. These were executed by one who had received little or no instruction in the art, consequently their author can be no less than a genius.

PENCIL DRAWINGS.

The specimen presented by Miss Carrie Works, was one of rare beauty and of very delicate finish.

BEST SPECIMENS OF PENMANSHIP.

C. J. Becker presented the only specimens of penmanship, which were excellent. Some of his pen and ink sketches displayed much ingenuity.

A few india ink sketches were sent in by Mr. W. Fred White. In them we found much to admire.

PAINTINGS IN WATER COLORS.

The display in this department was quite unusual and very interesting. Miss E. May Caldwell's flowers were simply exquisite.

The soft shading and dainty veining of leaves and petals, so true to nature, was the result of a skilled hand and a practiced eye. The landscape was very pleasing as a work of art. Miss Josie Perkins' pictures were very attractive to us. The representation of a bridge excelled them all. The coloring and prospective were very fine. All must have been accomplished by dint of labor and perseverance.

One specimen of Mechanical Drawing was sent in by Geo. Wilson, which was unanimously pronounced very fine.

The exhibition of articles in the various departments included in Fine Arts, was not all the friends of the Society had hoped to see. It is possible that some are unwilling to trust their valuable paintings, &c., in the new hall. When our Annual Fair was held in the City Hall the display was far greater than any on exhibit recently. Then the pictures could be arranged so as to do justice to the artists, while now the conveniences are very limited. Would it not be well to think less of the inconvenience and more of the good of the Society and the good of the public? All must acknowledge that these annual exhibitions are truly educators, to a certain extent, of all who attend them.

We hope a change for the better may be effected the coming year. There is talent in our city sufficient to warrant this department one of deep interest, if it can only be made available. We can but hope that the drawings of our public schools may at some future time, be included in the list on exhibition. Nothing would interest parents, teachers and the people generally, more than such an addition to the Fair.

TRANSACTIONS

OF THE

WORCESTER NORTH

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

FOR THE YEAR 1877,

TOGETHER WITH A LIST OF THE

COMMITTEES AND PREMIUMS FOR 1878.

FITCHBURG:
PRINTED BY THE SENTINEL PRINTING COMPANY.

PREFACE.

I AM well aware that the preface of the annual report of this Society usually contains a short recapitulation of the year's business. The poor health of your previous Secretary makes it necessary for a green hand to compile this report, and instead of the customary remarks concerning the weather, attendance, after-dinner speeches, amusements, the show and all matters of interest attending it, I must open with a brief appeal to all members and readers of this little pamphlet, to please remember when finding something amiss concerning the amount of premiums, name of exhibitor, or position on Committee, that I am ignorant of the workings of the Fair of 1877 except such knowledge as comes to all who attend from year to year, and attempt in one day to examine hundreds of articles each of which commends itself to their notice. The reports of the committees of the various departments are necessarily brief, and I shall in this report confine my attention to the awards as given on Premium Book of the Society.

Financially, the Fair of seventy-seven was a success, and we trust that our coming exhibition may outstrip all previous efforts, in every respect that contributes toward making it a success. A new arrangement of committees, and a large increase of everything of interest in all the departments, will tend largely to make the Fair of seventy-seven one to be looked forward to with interest by all who desire that the Worcester North Agricultural Society shall again see its palmy days. Your attention is particularly called to the department pertaining to our next annual exhibition.

Respectfully submitted.

WILLIAM A. CARLETON, Secretary.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY,

FOR THE YEAR 1878,

TOGETHER WITH A LIST OF THE

COMMITTEES AND PREMIUMS FOR 1879.

FITCHBURG:
PRINTED BY THE SENTINEL PRINTING COMPANY.

PREFACE.

This little pamphlet contains a record of the premiums awarded at the Fair of 1878 and a list of premiums offered for the coming Fair of 1879. The year past has been a good one financially for the Society. Improvements have been made in the Hall, which will assist in making a creditable Hall display. This season, great effort was made in the various departments to outstrip any previous year; how successful these efforts were, can be answered by all who could spare the time to visit and examine the various exhibits. The room inside the building is not adequate to accommodate so many entries as we were favored with this year, and the two large tents provided for fruits, flowers and agricultural implements, were crowded to their utmost capacity. The show of cattle, swine and poultry was very good indeed. Especially to be noticed was the large number of cattle entries, larger than for many years, and many of them very fine. The exhibitions in these various departments are of great interest to the farming community, and every effort should be made to make them as complete as possible. The appointment of suitable committees of interested members for the various departments has always been attended with difficulty, and an active reform in this direction would lead to satisfactory results. If each member of the Society would contribute each year a little personal effort, the "Worcester North" could soon stand firm upon its own merits and be in a healthy condition to assist those interests for which it was created. Many thanks are due to the Ladies and Gentlemen who so kindly assisted the past year in various ways. To such workers and friends the Society owes much. May their number increase until it can count all in our North County interested in agriculture.

REMARKS OF COMMITTEE.

There were 9 pairs of Working Oxen that contended for the Society's premiums. Your Committee regret that they had no more Premiums to offer, as there were so many that were meritorious, and they would very respectfully suggest to the Trustees to increase the Premiums for Working Oxen, both in amount and the number offered, so as to induce farmers to keep more oxen, as your Committee are unanimous in believing that one-horse farming (especially on a fair sized farm) will run it out rather than improve it; as we believe it to be the duty, as well as for the interest of every farmer, to improve the condition of his farm every year rather than to allow it to decrease in amount of production and value, and we think the rearing and keeping of oxen is the right road to that result.

We award the 1st premium for the best Working Oxen to Cyrus Kilburn of Lunenburg, and the 2d to E. M. Hadley of Princeton.

There was but one pair of Three Years Old Steers presented for premium. We did not think them worthy of the 1st premium. but we award them the 2d, to William Dame of Fitchburg.

There were 9 pairs of Two Years Old Steers presented to us, and a good proportion were very fine specimens, and your Committee were highly gratified to see that there was a good foundation laid for a goodly number of nice pairs of oxen. We award the 1st premium to John Brooks of Princeton, and the 2d to N. B. Reed of Princeton, for Two Years Old Steers.

There were five pairs of Trained Two Years Old Steers for us to examine. The majority of them showed that great skill and patience had been bestowed upon them to bring them to the perfect high training and docile condition in which they were when presented to us. We award the 1st and 2d premium to John Brooks of Princeton, for Trained Two Years Old Steers.

REMARKS OF COMMITTEE.

The Committee deem themselves especially fortunate in securing the services of Mr. L. A. Elliot of Boston, dealer in and importer of pictures, as the principal judge to decide on the merits of the various specimens offered for competition.

Mr. Elliot expressed himself exceedingly gratified at the general excellence of the exhibits.

The Committee are especially well pleased with the exhibit of the schools, and feel that the people of this Association cannot too highly estimate the efforts made in this direction by the public schools—and regret that more space was not allotted to their especial exhibit.

In the opinion of the Committee the growing interest in this department demands larger accommodations and a much larger appropriation, and would earnestly recommend that at least $50, or $100 be set apart for this purpose.

OF THE

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY,

FOR THE YEAR 1879,

TOGETHER WITH A LIST OF THE

COMMITTEES AND PREMIUMS FOR 1880.

FITCHBURG:
PRESS OF BLANCHARD & BROWN.
1880.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The twenty-seventh annual exhibition was held on the grounds of the Society, Tuesday, September 23d, 1879.

At 8:30 o'clock A. M., the first in order of the exercises, was the plowing match, held upon land of Mr. Francis W. Towne, the use of which was tendered to the Society. The exhibition of plowing was entered into with energy, there being fifteen entries, a much larger number than is customary. I would suggest for your consideration, that a more definite rule or regulation, in regard to the entries for this part of the annual exhibition, be adopted, and after its adoption it be carried out. The kind of plow to be used, either landside, swivel, double or single plow, should be classed separately. A double plow with subsoil point, a large mould-board to follow, lay over and smooth the furrow, should not compete with a single plow. This is a matter that has caused a great deal of contention, and should be restricted by rigid regulations, and if more classes are formed, offer more premiums.

The trial of working oxen and steers was a very creditable exhibition, especially the exhibition of trained steers, exhibited by Master J. H. Hadley, of Princeton, of whom the committee spoke in the highest terms of commendation.

The trial of draught horses was revived after several years' neglect, and it was a feature in which much interest was taken.

The exhibition of gentlemen's driving horses, matched driving horses, and family horses, was rather better than usual.

The town teams were far in advance of anything that has been shown for a long time, there being two teams, one of sixteen yoke, and one of seventeen yoke of oxen.

The show of neat stock was especially good, there being a very large exhibition of thorough-bred stock. In the Jersey stock,

Mr. John Brooks, of Princeton, entered a herd of thirteen animals, Mr. John F. Brown, of Lunenburg, a herd of nine animals, the estate of Lyman Nichols, a herd of eight animals, Mr. Alden Derby, of Leominster, a herd of eleven animals, all of the above being registered in Herd Book, or eligible to such entry. Mr. Augustus Whitman exhibited a large herd of Durhams, Mr. N. B. Reed, of Princeton, a herd of Devons, making a total of sixty-six animals of the highest merit.

There were twenty-one animals entered in the class of milch kine, of which the herd of four cows entered by Mr. W. A. Carleton, of Fitchburg, and of grade Durhams entered by Mr. Augustus Whitman, of Leominster, were especially noticeable.

The hall exhibition did not come up to the usual standard of excellence. Last Fall there was a feeling among the merchants on our street that it did not pay to make an exhibit, therefore they would not go down and contribute their mite towards making the annual fair a success. I can vouch for the truth of the statement made by the editor of the Sentinel, September 24th, that "The people of Fitchburg had begun to patronize" our exhibition, but I do wish that some of our traders would take interest enough in the institution and make such an exhibition as they are capable of doing, and one that would be of great benefit to themselves as well as to the society.

The offering of premiums in the department of entomology was something that has not been done before. The success of the exhibition of insects was very gratifying. The exhibits of Dr. F. W. Russell, of Winchendon, Eddie Garfield and Herman Kimball, of Fitchburg, were particularly good and were awarded the premiums of the book "Birds of New England," donated by the State Board of Agriculture. The other exhibits of Herbert Bruce, Walter K. Jewett, Chas. W. Rice, John P. Bancroft, and Miss Florence W. Dwinnell, were all very fine, and testify to the patience and skill of their owners.

The display of fancy articles was not as large as of former years, but the quality of work was far in advance of any previously exhibited.

At about 10 o'clock A. M., Lieut.-Gov. Long arrived upon the grounds, was received and entertained by President Jewett. About 12 : 30 o'clock procession was formed, at the President's head-quarters, and marched to the hall under the leadership of the consolidated band, where, after an invocation of the divine blessing by the Rev. E. W. Smith, the annual society dinner was served. The tables were abundantly supplied, and much credit is due the committee having this very important matter in charge. After due attention had been paid to the good things so abundantly supplied for the wants of the inner man, and the tables cleared, President Jewett called the assembly to order, and introduced Lieut.-Gov. Long, who delivered a practical address upon the importance of agricultural societies and exhibitions of this nature. Ex-Gov. Geo. S. Boutwell spoke upon the value of experimental farming, and of the skill necessary to successfully carry on farming in the New England States. Rev. E. A. Horton, of Hingham, very pleasantly closed the post-prandial exercises.

The exhibition this year was in every particular a decided success. This result is to be attributed to the interest taken in it by the citizens of the adjoining towns, as well as to the citizens of Fitchburg. The weather was all that could be wished for. It seemed as though we were providentially favored, this beautiful day coming as it did between two stormy days and in a week of rain.

The success of an exhibition of this nature is due in a large measure to the promptness with which the various parts of the programme are carried out, to the good order maintained. To Col. F. W. Wright, Chief Marshal, and his corps of efficient aids, to Chief of Police Whitney, and the officers under his charge, great credit is due for the satisfactory results attending their endeavors, with as large a programme crowded into an exhibition of one day as is usual for a two days' show.

The thanks of the society are especially due to Mr. R. A. Leonard, the efficient Superintendent of the hall exhibition, to Treasurer Geo. B. Knowlton, and the committee who assisted in the solicitation and preparation of the dinner.

THOS. C. SHELDON, Secretary.

PLOWING MATCH.

PLOWING OF HORSE TEAMS.

The plowing match took place on the farm of Lorin Pratt, now occupied by F. Towne. The land was in close proximity to the fair grounds, and easy of access. The ground plowed was better than that on the fair grounds, (where the match has taken place for a number of years past,) being quite free from stones, and of firm enough texture to admit of turning a good furrow. Good plowing is the basis of good farming. He that plows well has laid the foundation for a good crop, and it is of great importance to the farmer that he should pay particular attention to this part of the programme. Your committee were pleased to see that there was more interest taken in this feature of the exhibition than for several years past. The number of teams entered was eleven, and they were all prompt on the ground, and did good work. There were two classes of plows used—the swivel and the landside. Three premiums being offered for the swivel and two for the landside. Eight entries were made for the swivel, and three for the landside, Mr. E. A. Goodrich using the double landside plow. The peculiarity of this plow in performing its work is such,—turning as it does a light turf furrow, and covering the same with a subsoil, leaving the ground plowed in a very smooth condition, with the turf covered, and giving the field more the appearance of stubble than turf plowing,—that the committee would recommend that this plow be put into a separate class, or else be excluded, as in the opinion of your committee it has no business to compete with single plows. The work done by Mr. Wiley was accomplished in the most thorough manner. In the class of swivel plows the work in most cases was well done. The plowing between Mr. Page, of Leominster, and Mr. Wood, of Westminster, was very close, both teams working very nicely and plowing the ground in excellent shape, there being but two minutes difference in the time of plowing. In this instance both teams plowing so equally alike we took the time into consideration ; although each man's time of plowing was kept, in no other instance did the committee make use of it. Your committee, after a very careful examination of the ground plowed, award the following premiums:

SWIVEL PLOWS.

|---|---|
| Geo. W. Page, Leominster, 1st premium, | $5 00 |
| Time of plowing, 33 minutes. | |

APPLES, PEACHES, PLUMS AND QUINCES.

The committee appointed to award the premiums in this class present the following report :

The first thing for an exhibitor in this class to consider, is, for which premium or premiums shall I compete? To decide this question understandingly requires a careful examination of the rules of the society which govern entries, and a careful conformation to which must constitute the first element of success for a creditable exhibition. This point has a wider meaning than many suppose. A rule made by a society means something, and as a general thing, is the outgrowth of serious thought by intelligent minds upon just the point covered in the rule. If a rule calls for a certain number of specimens of each variety upon a plate for an entry, or for a certain number of plates to constitute a collection, a strict adherence to these conditions must be complied with to insure success. A committee has no right to recognize an entry not complying in every particular with the rules. If there are too many specimens on a plate the committee cannot remove any, to make it conform to the requirements, but must throw the entry entirely out of competition, as it is out of their province to make suggestions or correct entries to enable an exhibitor to secure premiums.

The above suggestions may seem entirely out of place, but a careful examination of the entries at our fairs will convince anyone of the importance of conforming strictly to the rules governing each class, and would save much fault-finding with committees who are endeavoring to make awards in exact justice with the exhibit before them.

The amount of the premiums offered by the society is not large, but to win a first premium in close competition ought in itself to be an incentive to great exertion in the future.

The method of awarding premiums in this class, this season, deserves a word in its praise. In its working it is simply this : Each specimen on each plate is scored by itself, ten points denoting perfection, and every imperfection reduces it from the standard according to the amount of such defect. This enables the committee to keep a strict account with the entire exhibit, and allows them to compare one plate with another without so much changing and moving of fruit as is necessary under the previous system.

Right here comes a point which deserves consideration : If the plan of scoring is a desirable one for committees to adopt, then a standard of excellence should be used, which shall clearly state how many points a first premium plate should score, and so on through the list.

Gratuities, as a general thing, are an expense to the society, and afford little satisfaction to parties receiving them. Mention, is a much cheaper manner of disposing of good exhibits, after the premiums are awarded, and cost nothing but printer's ink.

The quality of the fruit this year was noticeably poor, apples in particular, the scores in first premium plates running quite low in some varieties. Fine specimens in Baldwins and Russets were very scarce. The show of Quinces and Plums was very small, Plums being limited to one plate, and Quinces to two. This should not be so. Small fruits demand more attention than they receive in our immediate vicinity. Many of our farms are well adapted to their growth, and our home market would use them at remunerative prices. There seems to be a growing interest in this direction just now. A series of articles, edited by a most reliable grower, are to be published the present season in Scribner's Magazine. A perusal of them must prove of benefit to all interested in their growth. The quantity of fruit is extremely large, even apples, "in this the odd year," are quite plenty.

Too little notice is paid to the proper care and cultivation of our trees. For the first few years they are nurtured, but when they come into full fruition they are often neglected, and many good trees prematurely grow old and decay, never having paid for the expense incurred. Sun and air are requisites in fruit growing. Many are adopting the plan of growing their trees by the sides of fields, with abundance of room between them. This is certainly a good method, giving an opportunity of cultivating the land for other crops, and affording an excellent chance to pick the fruit, trim, and care for the trees.

FINE ART REPORT.

Your committee would take this opportunity to congratulate the society upon the success and general excellence of its Fine Art exhibition of this year, and also upon the decided improvement in the exhibits presented for competition this year as compared with previous years, not only in the skill and taste displayed in the various exhibits, but in the large increase of original designs in oil, crayon and pencil over copies. The committee feel that they cannot too highly commend the laudable desire on the part of even new beginners, as well as amateur and professional artists, to be original in their works, as it is not enough in this age of improvement to be mere imitators, or even improvers upon others' works, for it is originality in the fine arts, as well as in mechanics, agriculture or science, that opens up new fields for thought, labor and skill, and forms the successive stepping stones to the highest attainments, and it might be said marks the epochs in social and intellectual progress and civilization.

In the above remarks the committee would not for a moment discourage the beginner or even amateur artists from learning to draw or paint well from copy under a competent teacher or even without one, as it must be remembered that we were not all born geniuses who can do things intuitively, like Benjamin West, who took the family cat to the attic, robbed it of a few hairs for a brush and proceeded with home made colors to paint it so natural and lifelike as to greatly astonish his parents and friends. Hence it will be found necessary for nearly every beginner, and better for all, to first learn the rudiments of geometrical and perspective drawing under a competent teacher, or from books, before attempting to sketch from nature, or even to copy an elaborate picture, and your committee believe that with a judicious and persistent system of instruction such as is being introduced into our common schools of to-day, nearly every scholar who can learn to read and write and can acquire a fair knowledge of mathematics, can learn to draw sufficiently well to be of great service to him in whatever station he may be called upon to fill, while many may excel. This opinion seems to be borne out by the fine collection of original designs and drawings that were presented by the schools for exhibition this year, many of which gave unmistakable evidence of originality, talent and skill, and were a credit alike to the pupils and teachers.

This seems to be prophetic of the day when every pupil educated in the schools of old Worcester North may become his own designer, draughtsman and engineer.

It has been but a very few years since the fine arts have had a place in our agricultural fairs; previous to which little or nothing was exhibited in that line except a few specimens of needle work, fancy articles and photographs, and had paintings and drawings been called for by those of advanced ideas and tastes, few were the hands that then had the cunning to produce them. Now even our town fairs are hardly complete without pictures and designs in oil, crayon, water colors and pencil by local artists, and from our common schools. This augurs well for the future, when the fine art department may become one of the leading attractions of our fairs, and a strong auxiliary to the Worcester North Agricultural Society as it was shown to be to the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics' Association, at whose fair recently held in Boston, as your committee are informed by the chairman of the committee on fine arts, there was exhibited nearly a thousand pictures, the estimated value of which exceeded all the rest of the exhibits, including diamonds and plate. Therefore the committee feel that they cannot too highly commend the noble work that your society is doing in fostering art, and especially industrial drawing in our common schools.

In recapitulating, the committee would say that the art exhibition of this year was altogether very satisfactory, and when compared with last year (and it is remembered that most of the large oil paintings and all of the chromos were contributed for exhibition and to enhance the attractions of the fair of that year), it was eminently so, as a very much larger proportion of the exhibits of this year were new and original, being studies, compositions and sketches from nature, in oil, crayon, pencil and water colors, on canvas, paper, wood and plaque, some of which would have done credit to an experienced professional artist.

There was a fine collection of photographs exhibited, and some fancy sign painting and also lettering on glass, which the exhibitor claimed to be original with himself. There were also several very fine copies exhibited which had they been taken from nature whould have deserved more than an honorable mention or gratuity, noticeable among which was one in oil from Rosa Bonheur entitled "Plowing," which was particularly fine, but as the committee had not the time in the space of one short day to refer in detail to each individual exhibit, or to give anything like an analysis of their several merits, without being liable to do injustice at least to some, they would refer all interested to the list of entries for premiums, and the awards of your committee, hoping that they will prove satisfactory alike to the exhibitor and to the society.

In closing, the committee would say that in making their awards they have given the most important consideration:

First—To original studies, compositions and designs, as they deem that it requires much more experience and a higher order of talent to enter into the spirit of and forcibly illustrate a poem, an incident in history or an idea with nothing but the conception to draw from than to sketch or paint from nature with all its varied outline, configuration and color before the eye of the artist.

Second—To paintings and drawings from nature or natural objects, as they think it much more difficult to paint or draw from nature with its extended outline, its shades, shadows and colors, its altitudes, levels and prospective distances than to copy from a picture upon the easel, where all of these details have been carefully attended to and computed by a previous artist.

Third—To copies, as the committee believe it is very necessary to learn to copy well, not only as a means to higher attainments, but also to be able to duplicate the plans, drawings or paintings of others when desired, and although copies are not usually allowed to be entered for premium at art exhibitions, yet as heretofore no definite rule has been established in regard to the matter, and as no third premium was offered, the committee thought it advisable to award a gratuity for such as were especially meritorious this year, but hope that this custom may be discontinued hereafter.

Your committee would recommend:

First—That $50 be appropriated for premiums for the fine art department in 1880.

Second—That copies may be entered for exhibition, and that gratuities may be awarded therefor, at the discretion of the committee.

Third—That the list of premiums offered for competition shall be published in the annual reports of the society commencing with the report for 1879, and that the committees and sub-committee on fine arts be appointed as soon as may be after the annual meeting in order that the list of premiums may be made up in season for publication in the report.

Respectfully submitted by the committee.

The display of fancy articles, though smaller in quantity excelled in quality, many previous exhibitions, and many displayed much ingenuity of invention, and taste and skill in execution. Numerous articles deserved special mention, to which premiums were not awarded, and many richly deserved larger premiums which could not be awarded on account of the limited funds placed at the disposal of the committee.

ENTYMOLOGY AND SINGING BIRDS.

Your Committee on Entymology and Singing Birds were surprised to find so large and fine a collection as was exhibited at your Fair. The many excellencies of each collection made the examining of them more of a task than was at first anticipated, and made a careful notice of even the minor points a necessity. The excellence of the collection depends on the way in which the specimens are arranged, in pairs and in scientific order; in the preservation, the wings and other members should be entire, not broken or marred.

The diligence in collecting, preserving and arranging insects shown by boys and girls is specially commendable.

The first premium, a copy of "Birds of New England," was awarded to Dr. Fred W. Russell, of Winchendon, for the finest collection.

The other exhibitions were entered by school boys and girls of Fitchburg.

Two other copies of the same work were awarded as second and third premiums, to Eddie Garfield, and to Hermon P. Kimball, who added to his insects two cases of birds' eggs.

Some were arranged both in scientific order and also so as to tastefully blend the various colors and varieties; others seemed to have but one of these ends in view.

In one collection made by a young school boy we found nearly all the common varieties, and some quite rare, all arranged in scientific order, and named.

In one or two collections we were pleased to find the insect in its three states, the grub, larvæ and moth.

A few specimens were imperfect, some parts being injured; but the display on the whole was fine, showing care, taste and interest in this work.

The insect world affords ample scope for the student of nature, and not only may he gain knowledge of their names, forms and appearance, but may learn which are destructive to vegetation and which are harmless or of use.

The premiums for Singing Birds were awarded to P. T. Greenwood, for seventeen Canaries in one cage, and to Murray E. Brigham, who showed six birds.

Among other noteworthy cages was one containing a family of five birds, all of one brood, and all reputed singers. It is a well-known fact that birds cannot be relied upon to sing when called for, and some of these were persistently dumb, being evidently too much frightened to do themselves justice; hence the difficulty of choosing between the different families.

A. H. Campbell, Chairman of Committee.

We have no outstanding bills. Our indebtedness now is a note of $11,600. The interest on the same has been paid to Nov. 3, 1879.

The Farmers' Supper and Reunion Party has drawn a good number of the farmers together, and has been successful, both socially and financially, the last one netting the society $227 27.

The net receipts from the Cattle Show Dinner were $145 76, after feeding three bands, police, marshals, invited guests, etc., which is quite a saving to the society from letting the dinner out by contract, as formerly.

It is hoped that each member will contribute something to make the farmers' supper and cattle show dinner a success. If not convenient to give food, the committee will gladly accept of money, as they have to buy butter, cheese, eggs, potatoes, milk and groceries for the dinner, and pay rent for the hall, and for music, etc., for the farmers' supper.

TOGETHER WITH A LIST OF THE

COMMITTEES AND PREMIUMS FOR 1881.

FITCHBURG:
PRESS OF BLANCHARD & BROWN.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The twenty-eighth annual exhibition of this society took place on their grounds on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 28th and 29th, 1880.

The storm of Monday night and the clouds and threatening weather of Tuesday morning, probably reduced the attendance considerably, as the number of tickets sold was very much less than was anticipated

The first in order was the plowing match, which took place on the land of Mr. Lawrin Pratt, south of Bemis road. Owing to the uncertain weather, the attendance was very small and the interest manifested not as great as formerly. The noticeable feature of the match was the presence of Cyrus Kilburn, of Lunenburg, over eighty years old, who still retains some of his youthful vigor, and can handle a plow as well, if not better, than some of his younger competitors.

The trial of working oxen and steers was up to the usual standard, but in the exhibition of town teams we were sorry to find only one entry, that of the City of Fitchburg, consisting of thirteen yoke. If the interest in this class is not awakened, it will be better for the society to add this money to some other department where it is more needed. Why, the town of Ashburnham had fifty yoke of oxen and steers in the town team at their fair, and we ought to do one-half as well, at least.

The exhibit of stock this year was not as large as usual, the fine herds of the late Mr. Whitman, of North Leominster, and of John Brooks, of Princeton, not being on the grounds. Pains were taken previous to the exhibition to secure the presence of these herds, but without avail. There were present the herds of Alden Derby, of Leominster, John F. Brown, of Lunenburg, and Geo. W. Goddard, of New Ipswich, (Jerseys), and the herd of N. B. Reed, of Princeton, (Devons.)

The exhibit of swine compared favorably with that of last year, while in sheep we had the first exhibit for some years. We are glad that notwithstanding the small premiums in this class some had the courage to make an exhibit, and trust that next year there will be a much larger entry.

The poultry show was small, in part owing to the small premiums offered.

The display of fruit was very large and especially fine, so much so that even Mr. W. A. Warner, the representative of the State Board of Agriculture, spoke of it especially, and remarked that "the quality was equal to that shown at the New England Fair."

In the vegetable department the show was good, our market gardeners especially excelling in this department.

The hall exhibit was not as large as usual, and for the past two years has not been what it should be. While the feeling exists among some of our merchants and manufacturers that it doesn't pay to exhibit their wares at the fair, little can be done toward making a good display. But when all can unite as they used to do, there will be an exhibit worthy of the city. The exhibit of manufactured articles, though not as large as formerly, was of the finest quality, and reflected credit on those who took the trouble to arrange their goods for inspection. We believe that as an advertisement, if for no other reason, it pays once a year, at least, to show the people of surrounding towns what you have for their use and comfort.

The report of the chairman of the committee on fancy articles embraces the whole subject so concisely that I will simply refer the reader to that.

Many will take real pleasure in perusing the comprehensive report of Mr. R. G. Huling, chairman of the Fine Art Committee, and probably rejoice that so efficient a person is again placed at the head of that important department.

I feel that a word must be added concerning the need of more room in the Hall, or near it. This year, as usual, the society were compelled to hire two large tents to accommodate the vegetables and fruit. It seems as though a one story addition might be erected very cheaply, and besides saving the expense of the tents, be a much more secure place for leaving articles over night.

After dinner, on Tuesday, short speeches were made by Mayor Culley, Mr. W. A. Warner, member of the State Board; and an address by Hon. John E. Russell, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, well worth listening to, closed the dinner exercises.

In the afternoon the amusements consisted of a bicycle race, base ball match, and horse trot; and had it not been for the frequent showers which interrupted to some extent their progress, would have proved enjoyable attractions.

Wednesday was exclusively a horse day, and the first thing in order was the trial of draught horses, single and double teams, after which came the exhibition of gentlemen's driving, family and matched driving horses.

After dinner speeches were made by Congressman Norcross, Ex-President Jewett, and President Hagar of the Westminster Farmers' Club.

The two horse trots in the afternoon closed the day's exercises.

The society has held, during the past year, three Farmers' Institutes, one Feb. 18, 1880, at Board of Trade Hall, when Avery P. Slade of Somerset, was present and read a paper on "Twenty years farming experience and the lessons it has taught me;" decidedly a good thing, and a source of regret that many more farmers were not present. A farmers' supper and dance took place the same night and proved a very enjoyable affair. The second Institute was held at the same place, April 16, 1880, when the special subject for discussion was the Massachusetts Agricultural College, after which O. B. Hadwen of Worcester, read a paper on "Cattle Breeding." The third Institute took the form of a field meeting at "Pomoland," the farm of Dr. Jabez Fisher. The subject discussed was "Fruit Culture," and

Hon. Avery P. Slade, Hon. John B. Moore and A. W. Cheever, editor New England Farmer, were present and addressed the meeting. The success of this meeting is attested by the numbers present and the interest manifested. We trust that more of our farmers will try the same experiment of field meetings, as we believe they are by far the most instructive Institutes held.

The society has met in the last year with a great loss in the death of two of its former presidents, Stephen Shepley and Thomas Billings. At the annual dinner, a committee consisting of E. P. Loring, chairman, John F. Brown of Lunenburg and Dr. George Jewett, was chosen by the president to prepare suitable resolutions in memory of the deceased, and have them printed in the annual report.

There seems to be a feeling among some of the members, that the smaller Farmers' Clubs of the neighboring towns, will at no distant day, result in the dismemberment of the Worcester North. Your Secretary, however, takes a more hopeful view of the subject, and believes that with the growth of these societies, some way may be devised to create an earnest rivalry among them to exhibit their very best products. Why not have special premiums offered for the best town exhibit, and thus awaken new interest?

This idea was suggested by a former president, and it may be well to consider how this matter can be utilized for the benefit of the society.

The thanks of the society are due to Chief of Police Whitney and his associates, for their services during both days and nights of the fair. To Chief Marshal Wright and his aids for the promptness with which each part of the programme was carried out, to the Fitchburg Band for their excellent music, one of the chief attractions of the fair, and especially to the several committees for their interest and painstaking in their several departments.

The secretary would return his thanks to Ex-Treasurer Knowlton, for his counsel and advice, always cheerfully given; to the individual members of the committee of arrangements for their uniform kindness; and to President Brown for his cordial support in all details relating to the business of the society.

SHEEP.

The committee appointed to award premiums on Sheep submit the following report:

It gave your committee great pleasure to see more interest manifested in this animal; this is as it should be.

A few years ago the cry went out that we could not grow sheep in New England, that this section was too thickly settled, and that it was impossible for the New England farmer to compete successfully with the ranchman of the far West. But this, in a great measure, is changed, and we have to-day, thousands of acres of land that would be improved by sheep-raising, and hundreds of homes that might be made more attractive by the growth of this animal. Our markets, too, would be better supplied with that delicate joint which is now rather a rarity, but which should take the place, on every poor man's table, of the pork which is now his almost unvaried food.

There is no industry upon which a small farmer can better enter than sheep husbandry, inasmuch as the capital required to start in the business need be but small, and the increase is remarkably rapid.

Many a small farmer has a worn-out pasture, or, as is apt to be the case with all our pastures, one over-run with brush; such a man, for a few dollars, could stock his little farm, and we should be greatly surprised, if, at the end of the first season, the income from the stock and the wool taken from the same had not paid the first cost of the flock, and the pasture been improved besides, by the keeping of the sheep. It has been thought by many of our best fruit-growers that sheep could be pastured to good advantage in orchards, thereby serving a double purpose to the farmer.

There is certainly no animal grown so attractive to those not specially interested, as the sheep, and the frolicsome lamb is always the child's pet. We wish that our Massachusetts hills could be dotted with the white playful lambs! How many pleasant hours have we spent in our boyhood, watching the little lambs frisk and play upon the hillside, while the mother lay curled up on some flat rock, gazing at the frolics of her young.

Farmers, look to this matter; it is something in which you are all interested. Do not think because the sheep is small it is unworthy of your attention. There should be at least one cosset in every barn, if for nothing else than a playmate for the children.

Your committee feel that this society is not sufficiently liberal in the premiums offered for sheep. Sixteen years ago the society offered $24.00 in premiums for sheep. The committee find that it is not so much a scarcity of sheep as that no inducement is offered for the exhibit of any. Then there were three classes; now there is but one; and, in the opinion of your committee, this is the chief reason why there are no more entries at this time.

Your committee recommend that premiums be offered for three classes:

1st, Flocks, two premiums.
2nd, Bucks, two premiums.
3rd, Cossets, two premiums.

We feel that with due effort we can again have a good exhibit of sheep at our annual fair.

Report of awards as follows:

|---|---|
| Geo. Mason, Jr., 1st premium, | $4 00 |
| L. Kinsman, 2nd prem., | 2 50 |

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. B. ANDREWS, Chairman Committee.

PLOWING MATCH.

OX TEAMS.

Your Committee make the following report :—

Number of teams entered, 3.

|---|---|
| N. B. Reed, 1st premium, | $5 00 |
| Alden Derby, 2d prem., | 4 00 |
| Cyrus Kilburn, 3d prem., | 3 00 |

Your Committee feel it their duty to make mention of Cyrus Kilburn of Lunenburg, 80 years old, who held his own plow, and did his work in a manner that would do credit to any young farmer.

PLOWING WITH HORSE TEAMS.

The trial took place on the farm of Lawrin Pratt, which is but a few rods from the fair grounds. The land was in excellent condition, being level, free from stones and having a sod firm enough to admit of turning a good furrow. There was not so much interest taken in this part of the fair as your committee had hoped to see. There were only four entries and but three teams plowed. Last winter, at the annual meeting of the trustees there was considerable discussion in regard to the kind of plows to be used, some claiming that the swivel and landside should not compete in the same class, particularly the double landside, but it was finally decided that competitors might use any plow they pleased and the premiums awarded to the best work, regardless of the kind of plow used. The first land was plowed by G. W. Page of Leominster, with an I. X. L. swivel plow, the second by Geo. Mason, Jr., of Princeton, with a Centennial swivel No. 3, and the third by E. A. Goodrich with a double landside, which does its work in a peculiar manner, turning first a light turf furrow covering the same with a subsoil, giving the land the appearance of plowed stubble land.

The depth of furrow was to be seven inches. Mr Page had a good team and did his work in a thorough and easy manner, there not being a break in the whole land, to whom your committee were unanimous in awarding the first premium. Mr. Mason had a small team, and got rather a poor start, but improved very much towards the close. Mr. Goodrich, using the landside, had to back furrow his land. He had a very heavy pair of horses and they worked well, but in the opinion of the committee, he hurried too much, so that when he hit some small cobble stones he made some bad breaks, which could have been prevented had he driven slower; but in driving fast he turned a nicer furrow than he could otherwise have done. There was some hesitation which to award the second premium to, as Mr. Mason's land looked the best, being less broken than the other; but Mr. Goodrich's is undoubtedly in the best shape for cultivation. It was finally awarded to Mr. Mason and to Mr. Goodrich the third.

I hope that there will be more interest taken hereafter in plowing, as I fear that too many farmers are apt to hurry and not do their work well, for unless the land be well plowed we must not expect large crops. I am sorry to say that but few spectators were present to witness this match, but had the horse trot been on the same ground, I think that it would have been altogether different. Now I don't believe this is right, and hope that there will not be any such thing as a horse trot next year.

FANCY ARTICLES.

The committee on fancy articles received about eighty contributions for their examination, and though less in number than last year, some of the articles, in many points, surpassed those of any previous year. Your committee hope for a growing interest in this department, for nearly every lady can spare a little time from the more practical duties of life and devote it to the adornment of the home, for its surroundings have great influence on its inmates, and taste is required to please our more refined sensibilities. Among the articles contributed many of them deserve more than passing notice, would space permit. Special mention should be made of an Afghan contributed for exhibition only, by Mr. Walter A. Fairbanks. It was universally admired for the excellent taste displayed in the arrangement of colors. Another contributed by Mrs. E. A. Goodrich, and one by Miss Bigelow, were remarkable specimens of what may be accomplished by patience and skill; your committee found it difficult to decide upon the comparative merits of the two, but at last were allowed to accede equivalent honors, as the excellences of one were essentially counterbalanced by different, but equally important excellences in the other.

Vials of sands, comprising some forty-two different shades from the "Pictured Rocks" of McGregor, Iowa, attracted much attention, as specimens of the sands were arranged in bottles in beautiful designs by a deaf mute.

A quilt containing 5161 pieces, made by Mrs. Pierce, 80 years of age, shows untiring patience and that "Yankee go-ahead-ativeness" which overcomes all obstacles. Noticeable among the youthful contributions we found a neat toilet cushion by Minnie Fairbanks, who had scarcely completed her fourth year; the work would do justice to a miss of ten years; Lena Farwell, eight years of age, tidy; fret work by Wilbur Henry, ten years of age, all of which indicates a hopeful proficiency, and augurs well for the future. "Ye olden time" was represented by stays made in 1786; we predict for them another century.

The people would rather see the practical application of, "I have better than that at home," than so often hear it; mutually assisting each other for the production of that which is superior stimulates others to the production of something as good or better, and in that way the exhibitor becomes a public benefactor.

Respectfully submitted by the committee,

FINE ARTS.

Your committee, in the absence of any implicit instructions, deemed their duties to begin on the day appointed by the printed regulations for the presentation at the hall, of specimens for exhibition. Accordingly they repaired to their room on Monday, Sept. 27, 1880, received and arranged all specimens of the fine arts presented on that day or the next, and as early as possible on Tuesday, after deciding upon the comparative merits of the exhibited work, affixed the cards indicating the premiums and gratuities. In the task of awarding premiums, the members of the committee who reside in this county were much aided by the judgment of Mr. Rominer Lovewell, a marine painter of Chelsea, who kindly consented to serve upon the committee.

The exhibit of this year in our department, had the important merit of being without exception, so far as is known to your committee, the genuine work of the exhibitors. In consequence it was not so large as on some former years. Subtract, however, from those former exhibits, that portion of the specimens not executed by the exhibitors, and the exhibit of this year will compare favorably with its predecessors. If the main purpose of the fine art exhibition is to indicate the state of art work in this locality, the exhibition of 1880, it would seem, was equally successful with its predecessors. But as a means of rendering the fair more attractive to its patrons by presenting objects of beauty for their contemplation, it lacked something of complete success. Certainly there would have been an added feature of great interest, if those of our citizens who possess meritorious works of art had loaned them for the occasion. It seems probable that they will not do this without previous earnest solicitation on the part of the committee and possibly also, the expenditure of small amounts for cartage, boxing and similar expenses. Your committee would, therefore, recommend that a strenuous effort be made in advance to secure a loan collection at the next exhibition, and that, if it is thought likely by the executive committee that premiums would be a help in that direction, a first and second premium for paintings in oil or water-color not executed by the exhibitor should be offered. The pleasure afforded to the mass of visitors by the sight of the art-treasures accessible ordinarily to but few of them would be well worth the expenditure necessary to secure it.

The specimens of work in oil were, as a whole, marked by an excellent degree of fidelity to nature. The animal paintings especially, were admirable, as faithful portraitures of the originals. One visitor, at least, was heard to recognize upon the canvas the distinguishing features of his four legged acquaintances. Hardly less real in appearance were some of the flower pieces. Landscape painting had less faithful representatives on exhibition, and not without good reason, for although perhaps the most commonly attempted and probably the most attractive to the painter, it is yet the most difficult branch of art in which to attain perfection. Its demands for a thorough knowledge of perspective and a skilful manipulation of colors are imperative. Moreover, the landscape artist must by minute observation, have gained a deep sympathy with nature in her varying robes and then must have a powerful grasp upon the technique of his art in order satisfactorily to express on the canvas that which he feels. Few acquire this skill early in life, or in other places than where artists abound. True art demands, like every other mistress, the whole-souled devotion of her lover. In our rural communities and smaller cities, oil painting yet has ample room in which to grow. With us it is not an avocation but rather an accomplishment or the amusement for a leisure hour. We have, perhaps, reason to be grateful that the perfection of our home talent is not entirely secured, for in that case those whose work we are glad to see in our fine-art room would be spirited away to the large art centres of our land. We should be content to see our artistic life expanding, to encourage it, and to notice with joy the spread of the love for the beautiful which accompanies its growth.

In water-colors the exhibits were quite numerous, and of varying degrees of excellence. In some the conception and execution were very good; where the success was less marked, as in some executed by quite young exhibitors, there was an indication of finer work to come. An effort after truth and honesty, a carefulness to observe fruits and flowers, and other objects exactly as they are, and so to represent them, was very evident. The teachers of both oil and water-color painting in our community have reason to be gratified with the success of their pupils. Our young people are getting a facility with the brush, and an interest in art which would have been a cause for amazement two generations ago.

In crayon-drawing, with the exception of a single piece, the exhibits could not be called satisfactory. Another year it is to be hoped there will be an improvement. Most of the drawings were "copies," and therefore less praiseworthy.

The exhibits in pencil drawing were all copies. No premium could therefore be given, in view of the principle recommended in the report of the fine art committee of 1879. The present committee did not, however, follow the suggestion of that report so far as to refuse gratuities to meritorious copies in this or other departments. They were conscious that much patient labor had been expended in this lower grade of work. Just here, your committee would offer a suggestion. In some of these pencil drawing there was altogether too much work in comparison with the effect produced. No one cares to examine such work with a microscope. The spread of art-information so wonderful in modern times,—or, perhaps, a change of fashion among artists—has relegated to the past such painstaking fine point work in drawings designed for wall exhibitions. A much more pleasing, more artistic effect can be produced in the same composition by the use of charcoal, and in far less time In fact, the pencil is now employed mainly for mechanical work and for purposes of instruction, and but little for the construction of finished works of art. The pencil-drawing belongs rather to the school department than to the art room proper. Your committee look forward to the time when the premiums now given for pencil drawings shall be given for charcoal drawings instead, though our community may not at present be prepared for that step.

The collection of photographs, including photographs finished in crayon, was excellent. Unfortunately there was but one exhibit. It is much to be desired that in future exhibitions there should be a more general response in this department. To that end, it would be well to add to the clause which limits the space of such exhibits to four feet square, the qualifying phrase, "unless there shall be ample space unoccupied." The limitation above referred to is known to have kept away from this exhibition one collection of photographs for which there was no lack of room.

Very few mechanical drawings were presented, but those few were of marked excellence. In Fitchburg, where so many such drawings are daily used in the shops, there should be many to compete for this premium.

The school exhibit was this year better than ever before. The numerous designs, ranging through the various grades of schools, were especially ingenious, and those from the higher grades were marked by good taste, careful execution and a practical aim. This latter feature was demonstrated by articles manufactured from some of them. There were also good representatives of drawing from the cast and of coloring. It was easy for the observer to discover why Fitchburg was one of the three cities which in common received the highest award at the last annual exhibition of drawings from the various cities of the Commonwealth. That rigid critic of students' work, Walter Smith, principal of the normal art school, was one of the number to pronounce these very drawings, "Excellent." On examination, there was discernible much less difference among the various schools of the same grade than would be expected, but between the works of individual scholars differences were plain. Your committee notice with regret that no school exhibits from other places than Fitchburg were offered. They are confident that this department of the society's exhibition is, by its stimulating influence, capable of aiding materially in the improvement of school drawings in other towns. They would therefore suggest that the secretary of the society or the chairman of this committee be authorized to address within a few weeks, a circular to the towns within our district, inviting preparations for a general exhibit of school drawings, next year. Since the main motive of our whole art exhibition is educational, and since industrial art is the most immediately practical of any branch of our exhibition, the encouragement of our school children to greater efforts in industrial drawing would be exactly consistent with the objects of the society.

The committee see no cause for changing the amount of the appropriation for fine arts, or for other changes in the premiums than those already suggested. Below will be found the award of premiums.

The society is owing about $150 in outstanding bills. The receipts have fallen off some the past year, which accounts for the present condition of the finances. Our farmers' supper netted us $83 26 less than the one two years ago; the gate receipts fell off $40.42 from last year, and as the society did not get up its dinner, we may calculate on as much loss at least as the dinner netted one year ago, which was $145.76, making a total falling off in receipts of $269.44. Some money has been expended on the buildings, as they were sadly out of repair, but the general expenses were kept down as low as was consistent with a two-days fair. The society depends for its existence upon the interest the people take in it and the patronage they give it; and when parties the most deeply interested in the society's financial prosperity decline to donate any money, how can we expect the average outsider to enthuse much over it? What is needed most is an interest as universal as it should be enthusiastic, and a willingness on the part of every member of the Worcester North to contribute their mite once a year, at least, towards making the fair a success.

The following premiums remain uncalled for, and revert to the society. Most of them were donated.

DEATH OF STEPHEN SHEPLEY AND THOMAS BILLINGS.

RESOLUTIONS.

That the Society deeply feels its loss by the death of STEPHEN SHEPLEY and THOMAS BILLINGS, late presidents of the same, whose interest in our welfare was permanent, and ceased only when life ceased.

That we place upon our records this expression of appreciation of their many good qualities of head and heart, and bespeak for all our members, the same devotion to the Society which characterized the action of those whom we now deplore.

That the Secretary be directed to send a copy of these resolutions to the families of the deceased.
